

Who we are

Analysis, understanding and representation of information and data.

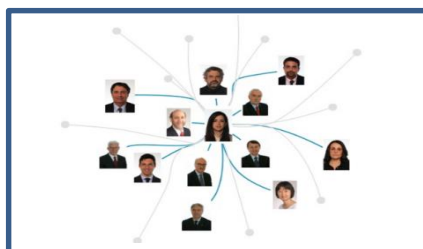

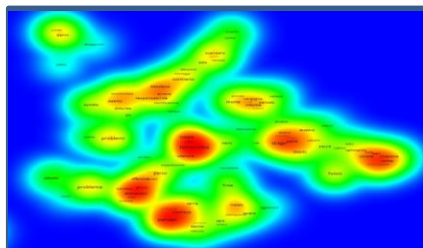

We are an innovative startup that collects, analyzes and displays data of different types and forms, both public and private. From small data to big data.

Our Aim: to eliminate the "noise" and provide insights and useful information to more effectively manage business activities.

Contacts

paola@eliflab.com

gabriele@eliflab.com

Service description

Customer clustering

To understand how your customers behave and anticipate their needs.

Text analysis

Automatically extract information from texts and classify your documents.

Image analysis

Automatically extract information from images and photos (e.g. receipts).

Network analysis

Investigate relations and understand how informal groups interact inside your organization.