Texe, is a company specializing in the production and distribution of natural cosmetic products with innovative and revolutionary formulas. The authenticity of our biological products is a direct result of researches and in-depth studies.

Product description

The product line consists of face and body creams rich in lycopene, anthocyanins, beta-carotene and other precious natural ingredients allied against cellular aging, being ideal for the most delicate skin.

Our formulation being extremely effective and targeted is the result of studies made, based on natural, eco-friendly materials and active ingredients closely linked to the marine matrix. Examples of this include sea water, algae extracts, marine plants and a mineral crystal of volcanic origin known as from antiquity, the Potassium Alum.
